

International Symposium

LAW AND DISASTERS

What Can We Learn from Complex Disasters?

East Japan Disaster on March 11, 2011 brought huge damages to Japan, but the nuclear pollution also affected overseas. A large scale disaster such as this occurred not only in Japan but also in foreign countries. We, living in the global community, must be able to learn from experiences of other countries and utilize them to prevent or mitigate damages in future. In this international symposium, scholars from Japan, the U.S., the E.U., Chile, Indonesia and Thailand bring their experiences to discuss what we can do to prevent or mitigate damages and how we can overcome problems we face in the process of recovery.

Moderators: Prof. Charles Weisselberg (Associate Director of the Sho Sato Program, the University of California, Berkeley, School of Law)

Prof. Masayuki Murayama (Associate Director of the International Collaboration Headquarters, Meiji University)

Presenters:

“Lessons from the Fukushima Daiichi Nuclear Plant Accident and Issues of safety Regulation in Future”

Prof. Hideaki Shiroyama (The University of Tokyo)

“The EU Legal Regulation for Emergency Evacuation”

Prof. Dimitri Vanoverbeke (The University of Leuven)

“How Could We Overcome Obstacles for Recovery?”

Prof. Geraldine Herrmann (Universidad Diego Portales)

Dr. Fadjjar Thufail (The Indonesian Institute of Science)

Ms. Kridtiyaporn Wongsra (Chiang Mai University)

“Katrina Disasters and the Work of Lawyers”

Mr. Reilly Morse (The Mississippi Center for Justice)

“Tort Damages or Compensation for Large Scale Disasters”

Prof. Eric Feldman (The University of Pennsylvania)

“Events beyond Imagination? Integrating Catastrophic Risks into Decision Making”

Prof. Daniel Farber (The University of California, Berkeley)

Date March 7th (Wed), 2012 14:00–18:00 (Doors open 13:30)

Venue Meiji University, Surugadai Campus, Shikonkan Alumni Memorial Building 4F, Room S5,6,7

Language Japanese and English with Simultaneous Translation

Admission Free / No reservation needed / Max 80 seats

Sponsor Meiji University International Collaboration Headquarters

Co-Sponsor Meiji University Organization for the Strategic Coordination Research and Intellectual Properties

“Disaster Recovery Support and Disaster Prevention Research Project”

The Sho Sato Program at the University of California, Berkeley, School of Law

Grant Support Japan Foundation, Center for Global Partnership

Organizer Institute of Law and Social Sciences (ILSS)