

GRADUATE SCHOOL OF GLOBAL GOVERNANCE
SPECIAL LECTURE SERIES 6 & 10 JULY 2026

Public Preference for Income Redistribution and Welfare State: Investigation Through Survey Experiments

WITH

SEKI KATSUNORI PH.D.

ASSOC.PROF. NAGOYA UNIVERSITY

1st lecture: Monday, 6 July, 13:30–15:10
Room 308G, 8F, Academy Common
Surugadai Campus

2nd lecture: Friday, 10 July, 13:30–15:10
Room 309F, 9F Academy Common
Surugadai Campus

To complete your registration, either scan the QR code on the right or visit

<https://forms.cloud.microsoft/r/M8L181UBNN>

GRADUATE SCHOOL OF GLOBAL GOVERNANCE

SPECIAL LECTURE SERIES 6 & 10 JULY 2026

01

- This lecture series aims to help students learn causal inference in social sciences with examples drawn from the instructor's own previous studies on the determinants of public preference for income redistribution and welfare state.
- The first lecture uses his previous studies to demonstrate what are the factors shaping public preference for income redistribution and welfare state. It also covers topics including the design of web survey, ethical issues, and survey sampling.
- Between the two lectures, students have opportunities to develop their own research and questionnaire, which will be discussed in the second lecture.

02

- The Lectures are delivered in English and face to face.
- Open to Meiji University students
- Attending both lectures is encouraged. It is not possible to attend only the second lecture.
- Please register referring the 1st page.

03

Dr. Seki's research covers topics including democratization, public understanding of democracy, economic vote, and preference for income redistribution and welfare state. His work has appeared in academic journals such as Electoral Studies, Japanese Journal of Political Science, and Political Science Research and Methods. He obtained a PhD in Political Science from Texas A&M University. He is associate professor at Graduate School of International Development, Nagoya University. He taught at Summer School for Social Science Research Methods organized by International Political Science Association and National University of Singapore.