

Features of the Meiji University Exchange Student Program

(1) Classes

Of the 13,000 class sessions offered at Meiji University, 12,000 are conducted in Japanese. For this reason, those applying for admission to the exchange student program are required to have a certain level of Japanese-language proficiency.

(2) Supervisors, Seminars (“Zemi”)

- ① Supervisors provide instruction directly to students in seminars (“zemi”). Seminars are comprised of 10–20 students and encourage active discussions with the supervisors. Students participating in these seminars are able to interact with other students.
- ② Not all students can participate in the seminars. Participation depends on Japanese-language proficiency and the number of seats available. Upon their arrival in Japan, exchange students will meet with their supervisors and create study plans that include these seminars if appropriate.
- ③ There may be restrictions on the classes a student may take based on their Japanese proficiency level.

(3) Academic Advisors

Academic advisors provide assistance in creating study plans and consultation for study and student life as necessary.
