<外国人研究者からの報告 / Foreign Researcher Report>

①研究課題 / Research Theme

Research theme has been centred around the strategic and critical approach to the development of Artificial Intelligence in public administration, a topic of central significance nationally and internationally

②研究概要 / Outline of Research

The Researcher has presented his work on the critical and strategic approach to the development of Artificial Intelligence in and for Public Administration. Research work draws from the Researcher's inquiry into the philosophical foundational issues of AI as a set of technologies interpretable also through the perspective of the Philosophy of Information and its application to public administration. The other key element of the research work has concerned the development of a strategic management approach to the adoption and development of AI in government and public sector organisation. The research has then been integrated with evidence about the adoption of AI in Japanese Local Government, the research work carried out by the hosting scholar, Professor Shunsuke Kimura.

③招聘期間中の研究活動の実績 / The research results as Guest Professor・Guest Scholar

A set of the theoretical propositions and pathways for application to the context of Japanese public administration represent the main research results.
