Publication is biannual, hence your opportunities are twice a year at most. Consult your supervisor in advance about the title and the content of the paper. The submitted paper shall be sole authored and you may contribute 1 paper per issue of “Graduate School Journal” of your school.

1. Pre-registration

- (1) With permission of your supervisor, register the required information such as your full name and the title of your paper from the “Pre-Registration Form” on the designated web page during the Pre-Registration Period. If pre-registration is successfully completed, you will receive an automatic reply email notifying you that pre-registration has been completed. If you do not receive this email, your registration will not be considered complete. If you do not receive an automatic reply email, please contact the graduate school office during the Pre-Registration Period.
- (2) In case of cancellation after pre-registration, contact the Graduate School Office immediately.
- (3) “Studies in Business Administration” does NOT require pre-registration. As for the detailed schedule, refer to P.7 of this guideline.
- (4) “Journal of Political Science and Economics” requires students with abstract of the paper for pre-registration. As for the details, refer to the website of the Graduate School of Political Science and Economics.

2. Content

- (1) The paper must be an academic paper, an academic survey, or a joint research, which is both highly specialized in its field and worthy of being released to the public.
- (2) The paper must contribute to existing research in the field of study and have no obvious mistakes.
- (3) The paper, in principle, must not be identical to those published or are scheduled for any other publications (including publications on campus). (= No Double Posting)
- (4) Each graduate school has its own specific requisites.
You must pay attention to the followings for general validity and rationality of the paper:
 - ① You understand research subjects correctly and appropriately.
 - ② You have not deliberately ignored or withheld any information relevant to the accepted truth.
 - ③ You have utilized concepts consistently.
 - ④ You have not followed any irrational process of logic.
- (5) For “Studies in Law,” the followings can be also accepted in addition to (1).
 - ① note
 - ② case note
 - ③ material

If you submit one of the above, specify the type prior to your title of the paper in (1) section on your application form: 【case note】 your title

3. Application Eligibility

- (1) Students enrolled in a course of a graduate school of this university and those who have supervisor’s permission. (Non-degree students, auditors, research students and special auditors are not eligible.)
- (2) Those who completed master’s program at Meiji’s Graduate School in the past 2 years, wish to apply for doctoral course and are approved by the former supervisor.
- (3) Former students who graduated or withdrew from a doctoral course of this university and also are approved by the former supervisor. (within 8 years after enrollment.)
- (4) Those who have attended or completed the research ethics education (e-APRIN) designated by Meiji University before submitting paper and have acquired knowledge on research ethics.

Even without completing e-APRIN, persons who fall under ①~② below are also eligible to apply if they have completed the Research Ethics e-Learning Course (<https://elcore.jsps.go.jp/top.aspx>) provided by the Japan Society for the Promotion of Science. They must submit the certificate of completion by the time of submission of their papers.

- ① Students who are unable to take e-APRIN course before submitting their papers because they are new students (September publication only)
- ② If applicants did not have to take e-APRIN prior to graduation or withdrawal.
*Please note that this is not a research ethics education required by Meiji University at the time of submission of the dissertation, etc., but only for "Graduate School Journal".

*Even if (2) or (3) is applicable to you, you are not qualified to apply when enrolled in another academic or research institution and being able to publish a research paper there.

*Persons falling under (2) and (3) must submit "Reasons for Submission of Graduate School Journal".

*If your former supervisor has retired, you need to get approval by an associate dean of your graduate school.

*Exchange students in master's course may apply within 2 years after the end of their exchange programs.

Exchange students in doctoral course may apply within 8 years after enrollment.

4. Format

- (1) Horizontal writing in A4 paper
- (2) Within 10,000 words (Including tables of contents and annotations. References are not included.) [within 20 pages]

5. Instructions for writing the paper

Body of the paper

Be sure to refer to the published Graduate School Journal and the format examples on the website for writing your paper.

- (1) You must observe the maximum number of pages as any excess is not permitted. [Pages for the title, the abstract, keywords, diagrams, and references are included in the number of pages. Even in case the number of words does not exceed the limit, it is not acceptable if the number of pages exceeds the limit.]
- (2) Table of contents, body of the paper and annotation should be included in the maximum word limit.
